What a beautiful mind! Hidden Footprints of Unity is a substantial work from an intelligent and spiritually perceptive man. Arasa has skillfully navigated his way through a vast array of subjects: the “strange sensitivity to skin colour by most adult whites ... the search for the Divine ... the desire by some to peer into the Void ... the issues of a divisive tribalism and the imperatives of an evolving new Australian national identity”. Arasa has produced an eminently readable memoir, uplifting, provocative and well written. He writes with a light touch on complex issues. His use of pertinent, often amusing, quotes adds a further dimension to his vision of the inter-connectedness of mankind.
